

NEW BAND ALERT

RALEIGH, NC – Straight outta the South with amps cranked and boots dirty, The Last Sin is a four-piece hard rock wrecking crew bringing the grit, glam, and grind of '80s sleaze metal back to the stage—loud, unfiltered, and unapologetic.

Formed in Raleigh, NC, the band delivers a swaggering mix of heavy hooks, dirty riffs, and attitude-soaked vocals that channel the glory days of Sunset Strip rock 'n' roll. Think vintage leather, cigarette burns, and Marshall stacks on fire.

The lineup:

Chris Clark – Vocals / Guitar

Stephen Blasko – Bass

Brandon Melvin – Drums

Jason Maxfield – Lead Guitar

Inspired by legends like Guns N' Roses, Aerosmith, and Faster Pussycat, The Last Sin captures the sound of danger, lust, and rebellion—built for the dive bars, back alleys, and big stages alike.

"We're not here to play it safe," says frontman Chris Clark. "This is dirty, loud rock n' roll the way it was meant to be—no frills, no filters."

The Last Sin is now booking shows for Fall 2025 and is ready to tear up clubs, venues, and festivals with a high-energy live show that leaves no one standing still.
